

Jail or Hell

Any God believing bobble head knows how to avoid jail, live by the law. Likewise, any God believing bobble head knows how to avoid hell, live by the law. Man requires proof beyond any reasonable doubt to send a party to jail, whereas Under God it is not beyond a reasonable doubt but an absolution that is known.

You can fool some of the people all of the time, and all of the people some of the time, but you can not fool all of the people all of the time.

Abraham Lincoln

16th president of US (1809 – 1865)

What if the quotation had been written as: You can fool some of the people all of the time, and all of the people some of the time, but you can never fool God.

A foolish actor “Under God” may avoid man’s punishment but not that of God’s.

Question for those leaders that have placed mammon before God, in a symbolic graphical nature, how many shovels of coal will need to be shoveled to pay God his fine for not jailing the guilty. Science has shown for every action there is an equal and opposite reaction. Protect the guilty and the opposite will judge a path hell.

All men evil, wicked, mean, and nasty carry God in their soul and truth to God is not void or voidable. Would not the preceding better be written as: All men even the evil, wicked, mean, “or” nasty carry God in their soul...

Where man’s wording is based upon precision definition, God’s words are based on an absolution.

"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation under God,....
